What is an electronic health exchange? An electronic health exchange is a way for one health care organization to securely transfer patient health information to another health care organization.

What patient information is shared? A document will be sent listing allergies, current medications, diagnosis, test results, and visit dates.

Why is this beneficial? Safety and improved patient care are the key reasons for an electronic health exchange. North Memorial Medical Center or Maple Grove Hospital would be able to obtain vital information for your care in a secure and efficient manner.
